Reviews President Wilson's Record

By HOVER S. CUMMINGS,

I want to speak to you of a great man and a great cause. We have followed with devotion his leadership through the most difficult period of American history. The mighty impulse which he gave to progressive thought and the unexampled skill with which he directed the forces of legislation have resulted in the placing in the very structure of our law remedial statutes, long needed, and so just and efficacious that no critic suggests their repeal.

From the passage of the Income Tax to the establishment of the Federal Reserve System, the whole movement has been ever forward. When the great war came, his leadership rose to still greater heights until today America is the most loved and the most trusted nation in all the world. Her record is unblemished, and there is a world wide recognition of the nobility and generosity of her purposes.

There are some who credit deny to President Wilson any credit for these great achievements, ascribing them to mere coincidence or proclaiming their inevitability. With such persons we shall not pause to debate. If they are known to history at all, they will be remembered as ungenerous critics who in a period of great difficulty sought to embarrass one of the great leaders of all time. They will be remembered as the fault-finders of the Civil War are remembered, with a sort of pitying contempt for men whose vision was so clouded that they did not know, in the day and time of it, the greatness of Lincoln.

President Defines War Purposes

During the progress of the great war from which we have emerged President Wilson more clearly than any other statesman defined the purposes of the war and gave to our cause a spiritual power that made our material forces irresistible. And when the end drew near the people of all lands looked to the American President to formulate the terms upon which hostilities were to cease.

Our leader as, in very truth, became the world's leader. His words carry into every quarter of the globe and the statesmen of allied governments have instinctively accepted his leadership. It is his purpose to garner the results of this war and to make certain that the sacrifices of America and of the world have not been in vain. He has not forgotten that it was a war against war, against hereditary power, against all the cruel things that have menaced mankind from the beginning.

The world has followed a long and weary road. Millions have been slaughtered in useless, cruel and inhuman wars, serving no purpose of freedom or justice or self-defense. States have been managed as the personal property of caste and kings, and from immemorial the poor peasant has been lured from his humble hut to participate in a struggle not his own. Millions of people have become distrustful of their governments. Millions of people have lost confidence in their leaders until there has developed a philosophy which runs like a sub-stratum under all society in almost all nations and which, for want of a better word, is called "internationalism."

Cure for World-Wide Unrest

Only those whose observation is confined to the surface of things ascribe this almost universal unrest merely to ignorance and vice. The world has ignorance and the stationary statesmen of the old school who seek only to reapply the process of antiquity. Internationalism, with its offshoot of Bolshevism, its recrudescence of I. W. Wism and similar economic distempers owes its vitality in a large measure to the distrust which war-weary people have of the old forms of government, the loss of confidence in the leaders and the ingratiating appeal which the idea of establishing a universal brotherhood makes to so many minds.

When to these things are added the impairment of existing forms everywhere, we find thousands of honest people, half in hope and half in hopelessness, turning to desperate remedies. These are some of the conditions which make the thoughtful man concerned as to the foundations of society.

How shall political equilibrium be restored? How shall society be healed so that the processes of healing may serve their beneficent purpose? Has statesmanship no better answer than to suggest that America should attempt to withdraw into a position of studied isolation, leaving the world to chaos and inviting a recurrence of a world war into which America will be drawn as inevitably as it was drawn into this war? Shall we follow the policy of ignominious great fight of hope which flamed from liberty-loving America upon the troubled and desperate peoples of the world be darkened forever?

There is neither honor nor safety in such a response to an agonized world. No man and no party intentionally placing obstacles in the way of a League of Nations will survive long enough to outlive the memory of such an offense.

His parents were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leasure who survive with the following brothers and sisters: Tolbert and Clarence of Cumberland, Mrs. Hiram Shipley of Purcell; Mrs. Olla McCure, of Langdon; Mrs. Jessie Nail, of Pratt, Md.; Mrs. Etta Price, of Piney Grove, Md.; and Mrs. Ida Shipley of Cumberland. Both funerals were preached at the same place. The parents had just moved to Cumberland and the boy had secured work there a few days when he was killed.

MRS. MARY HISSONG

Our community was shocked on Tuesday morning April 15, to learn that death had suddenly come in to one of our families and Mrs. Mary Hissong wife of Wilson Hissong was taken.

That she was highly respected and loved was easily attested by the number of friends and neighbors that attended the funeral.

"Mollie" was the name by which she was familiarly known and she was a woman who never had anything but good to say of any person or cause. She had first married George Carney who died about thirteen years ago. December 9, 1914 she became the wife of Wilson Hissong, who with her son, Samuel R. Carney of Belden, and three stepchildren, Elizabeth, Margaret and Mulo Hissong are at home. She was a loving wife and by nature a loving mother.

She was a member of St. John's Lutheran Church and Sabbath school and of the "Ladies Aid" connected with the church. The funeral was conducted by her pastor, Rev. M. J. Ciesworth. Interment at Mt. Smith cemetery. She was aged 50 years and 15 days.

Predicts New War In 1926

In last week's paper we published an item which said that Dr. Richard Von Kuhlman, formerly German foreign minister said, that the Germans would be in Paris by 1926. He also said Germany was being reorganized by the monarchists faster than the world knew about.

Now a British astrologer, who predicted a year in advance the exact date of the beginning of the war in 1914 comes out with the prediction that another war will take place in June 1926.

He writes in the British Journal of Astrology and signs himself "Sapharial". He asks for a serious hearing inasmuch as he asserts that he published a year in advance in each case the exact date of the war beginning in 1914 and of the cessation of hostilities.

"The first phase of the next war," he writes will begin with Turkey, whose perfidy will lead to its final overthrow in 1921—22. At this time Prussian intrigue will dominate the position in the near East, affecting Greece, Turkey, and Russia. But according to my calculations, the great crisis will not be reached until 1926.

"In this great war, which may be regarded as Prussia's counter to the war of 1914—16, the malevolent forces take their use in Vienna and Berlin, ascend to Petrograd, penetrate through the whole of Russia and descend via the Black sea and Turkey, in Asia, on to Syria and Palestine."

Another allied victory is predicted by this prophet who says the Prussians and their allies will be again overcome.

But what we want to point out is the coincidence of Von Kuhlman's and the British prophet's statement coming only a year apart. This may be only a coincidence, but many things tend to give the impression planning for a "come back."

Von Waggenheim, the German Ambassador to Turkey told Mr. Morgenthau the American Ambassador that Germany did not have enough cotton and metal laid up for the war of 1914, but they would be prepared for the next war in this respect.

Then didn't the Germans, when they were crossing the Rhine, on their way homeward after the armistice was signed say "We'll come back. It may be five or ten years but we'll come back, we'll come back."

SARAH CROUSE SNYDER

Sarah Crouse Snyder, wife of Philip Snyder of Ohio, formerly of Monroe township, died last week of influenza. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Crouse and was married a couple of years ago. She leaves to survive her, her husband who is very bad with the flu and a baby of a few months. William and Owen Snyder, and Mrs. George Andrews, of Mattie, brothers and sister of Philip Snyder attended the funeral. Mr. Snyder, another brother, just arrived from France in time for this funeral. He was over the top 15 times and received one wound in the arm. He expects to be home soon.

SURPRISE PARTY

Quite a surprise party was sprung on Mrs. Sarah Ling at her home in Buffalo Mills, Saturday evening April 19. Mrs. Ling is the mother of two of our townsmen G. A. and Squire A. W. Hillegass. During the fore part of the week the two daughters-in-law put their heads together and decided to pull one over on Grandma. So nicely was it arranged and so well planned that Grandma bit at the first bait. It was arranged she should spend the evening at the home of her son G. A. Hillegass as Mrs. Hillegass was getting company so about 7:45 she went but was there only a short while when some one called her home telling her that her sister Mrs. George Shoemaker of Bedford was at her home. She came home quickly as possible and on entering her home found it over flowing with the ladies of the community who informed her of her birthday. Every person had a good time and a very reasonable hour. Ice Cream, cake and coffee were served. Those present were Samuel G. Walker and wife, of West End; Mr. and Mrs. George Shoemaker and daughter Pearl of Bedford; Mrs. Arthur Long of Mishawaka Indiana, Mrs. Harry Stouffer, Mrs. J. P. Shoemaker, Mrs. M. D. Myers, Mrs. Grant Miller, Mrs. John Horne, Mrs. Aox Miller, Mrs. Henry Horne, Mrs. Anna Claycomb, Mrs. Edward Waggener, Mrs. George Brown, Mrs. Franklin Brown, Mrs. George Zembower, Mrs. Harry Cook, Mrs. Harry Brown, Mrs. William Zembower, Mrs. William Smith, Mrs. C. P. Howdy, Mrs. S. S. Hyde, Mrs. E. O. Myde, Miss Mary Kennell, Miss Irma Hurrett, Mrs. Chester England of Everett, Mrs. George Horne, Mrs. G. A. and A. W. Hillegass.

Where 25,000 Soldiers Died In Battle

Thirty kilometres north of Verdun near the lines where the closing battle of the great war was most fiercely fought the bodies of our dead United States soldiers are being assembled in what will be the greatest of our national cemeteries.

Arlington has more than 20,000 graves, Chalmers more than 12,000 Chattanooga more than 13,000 Fredericksburg more than 15,000 and Nashville and Vicksburg more than 16,000 each. Antietam and Gettysburg, ranking among the most sanguinary fields of the Civil War, have cemeteries containing 4,751 and 3,636 respectively.

The precise system with which our dead in France have been cared for is in keeping with all of our military operations overseas. It is not possible to bury in one place the remains of all the brave Americans who died in battle, but the vast graveyard at Romagne-sous-Montfaucon will testify most impressively to the valor of the armies that finally overcame the hosts of autocracy, and should be the object of patriotic pilgrimages forever.

Strange Animal Encountered

I want to tell you a little experience I had with a wild animal sometime ago on my way to work on the mountain. As I was traveling along the road I looked ahead and saw an animal something like a hundred yards away resembling a fox in the lower rut eating something, and by having its back toward me, I had the opportunity to get a good view of it. It spied me and raised its hind feet and looked. I stopped and stood very still. Then by me doing so it did not recognize me. But when it went to get another bite I ran quietly so not to make any more noise than possible. I managed to get right opposite it.

It raised to its feet, took a stand to see what might be the consequence. I thought to myself, what's the matter with you anyway, you have lots of nerve.

It stood on its hind feet, and I had a paper poke, and as I stood on one side of the road at the rut and it at the other I punched the poke at its nose it grabbed at it and snarled and yet stood its ground.

I then stepped a little closer and tapped it under the jaw with the toe of my shoe and to be surprised it did not give an inch. I gave it another tap a little harder and then it began to make its escape and it took another stand for battle. I then broke off a forked limb put it around its neck and took a switch and licked it a little, and then left it go to the woods. It went a little distance and stopped to see what had become of its offender and you will be surprised to know it was nothing but an old grandmother Ground Hog. This is a true story.

FORD TO BUILD STREET CARS RUN BY GASOLINE

Henry Ford, who has built everything from a tin whistle to a submarine destroyer, now proposes to build a gasoline driven street car.

Mr Ford says that street railway traffic would be doubled at least if short headways and low graduated forces went hand in hand.

He intends that the gasoline street car shall be to other street cars, what the Ford is to automobiles.

Mr Ford said that he considered that if railway men saw to it that the service was so good and so cheap that the owner of an automobile would use the street cars habitually instead of occasionally the number of street cars would speedily increase a hundred thousand to a quarter a million.

Mr Ford declares that although the railway field was not his specialty he was going to prove at his own expense that it was possible practical and profitable to build his idea of a Ford street car.

This car according to his ideas will be so light that its fuel consumption on rails will be extremely low, and furthermore, it would not require heavy expense for track construction and upkeep. Automobile steel would not be strong enough, he said, for use in building this car. In place of four or five inch axles, the new car will have a two inch axle of strong steel, the same proportions applying to the other dimensions.

REPUBLICAN QUEST FOR ISSUE BEGINS

LEAGUE OF NATIONS OFFERS NO
HOPE AND TARIFF MAY BE SUBSTITUTED

Search for an issue in the presidential campaign of 1920 is just now absorbing the thoughts and energies of Republican leaders. One by one the Democratic Administration's foreign and domestic policies have been examined and considered with regard to their appropriateness for partisan use, but they have offered no hope.

The President's proposal for a league of nations was quickly seized by some Republicans, including the Chairman of their National Committee, as a text for an entire campaign, but they have begun to show signs that this, too, must be discarded.

There was nothing like unanimous or even practical agreement among Republicans in their opposition to President Wilson's labors for a league of nations. For one thing, former President Taft, who had received the highest possible honor from his party, who had been nominated as President Wilson's opponent and many men of the type and prominence of President Lowell, of Harvard, have recorded themselves as supporters of a league.

"Investigations" Dropped

There were rumors and reports, for a time, that "Democratic mismanagement of the war" was to be preached to voters in the hope of converting them to the Republican cause and purposes. Governor Allen, of Kansas, made the test for his party by charging incompetence in the handling of American troops during the Argonne fighting, but Major General Traub so completely countered this Republican attack that it was not renewed.

The stubborn facts which confront Republicans when they approach the question of the war are that it was gloriously won with comparatively insignificant casualties; that the soldiers had the best of physical care, and in addition the best possible provisions for their moral welfare—as no soldiers in previous history had—that they fought with knowledge their dependents were amply protected by insurance and allowances under the Government's direction; that with more than 4,000,000 under arms at home and abroad, there was no loss of life from epidemics such as raged in our camps during the Spanish-American war, which was wholly under Republican management; that there were no scandals and corruption in the awarding of contracts such as is remembered in connection with the "embalmed beef" that was fed to our fighters in Cuba and Porto Rico in 1898, and that the doughboys are coming back home with pride in their country's accomplishments.

There is no comfort for Republicans in a review of Democratic legislation during the incumbency of President Wilson. They can find no large element of the voters to criticize, or tolerate criticism of, the currency and banking laws whose operation in 1914 and 1915 saved the country from panic and chaos following the upheaval in Europe. The establishment of rural credits is another Democratic performance that is remembered gratefully by farmers all over the country and not likely to lend itself to Republican attack.

Federal assistance to agricultural interests under the provisions of the Smith-Lever act the appropriation of $10,000,000 for vocational education, the creation of a merchant marine which will be ready to carry the commerce of the United States to all quarters of the globe; the establishment of a tariff commission to make the question of protection and adjustment of economies and not policies; numerous statutes looking to the rights and welfare of labor; the cooperation between the Government and the States in behalf of public health, and dozens of other constructive efforts are part of the Democratic record under President Wilson. The Republicans are clearly afraid to denounce or repeal them.

President's Charge Verified

President Wilson has said that the Republican party has not had a new idea in 50 years. Its leaders seem about to add new proof to those which already substantiate the President's statement by turning once more to the tariff. Some of the protectionists of the stripe of Penrose and Gillett and Fordney already have announced their intention of putting the tariff higher than ever before. They hope to make this an issue if all their other prospects fail.

"We will set the Ways and Means Committee to work on a bill to meet the conditions brought about by the war. Tariff and revenue legislation will be among the questions to be given consideration," says Floor Leader Mondell.

"A new tariff should be passed as quickly as possible. It ought to be done at the extra session, so that the people may become familiar with it before the next election," says Representative Fordney, who is to head the Ways and Means Committee of the next House. Here again disappointment appears ready to be the only outcome of Republican plans. The Tariff Commission has made a scientific study of the extent and method of protection to be given American industries and workers. Their findings will represent the fruits of investigation and will be sure to conflict with the extreme demands of special interests which have always heretofore been the chief beneficiaries of Republican tariffs.

In former years the people were compelled to choose between assertions and denials in any discussion of the tariff, because it had never got beyond the realm of partisan politics. Hereafter thanks to President Wilson's efforts, the need, the incidence and the rate of any given tariff will be susceptible of plain explanation. The law will be framed on the basis of necessity and equity and not as a return for campaign contributions to the Republican party, or the people will know the reason why.

Women at Peace Conference

Representatives of the National Women's Trades Union League have gone to Paris to present the interests of women workers of American to the Peace Conference. Their representatives, who made the trip with the endorsement of President Wilson are Miss Mary Anderson of Washington, and Miss Roe Schneidemann of New York. They will appear before the commissions that are considering labor matters.

Information on Concrete.

Every week we will answer in this column question concerning concrete work. We will tell the various concrete proportions to be used in different kinds of work; preparation of foundations; the laying of concrete; the amounts of cement, sand, and gravel per cubic yard for your proposed work.

Letters should be sent to the Gazette addressed "Information Request" and should be in not later than Tuesday of each week.

I. W. D. In actual work a sack of cement is generally taken as one cubic foot, and you can make your proportions on that basis.

If you use a mixture of 1:2:4 it will take per cubic yard 6 sacks cement, 12 cubic feet of sand, and 24 cubic feet of gravel.

An ordinary wagon bed can be used for measurement, the size being 9 feet 1 foot high, 3 feet wide, 9 feet long and holding one cubic yard.

O. R. D. If you want to make concrete blocks yourself, use a mixture of one part cement and three parts sand. No coarse aggregate should be used. Make your mold to the desired size, and put a block in the centre of the mold, so that the finished block will be hollow. This will give an air space, which is desired, in order to keep out moisture. H. A. S. Make the base for your gasoline engine of one part cement, three parts sand, and five parts gravel.

With this proportion per cubic yard it will take 4.6 sacks cement, 13.8 cubic feet of sand, and 23 cubic feet of gravel.

A sack of cement is taken as one cubic foot.

A. R. S. The amount of mortar for your wall will be for roughly dressed stones from 25 to 30 per cent of the total volume of the wall.

A good strong economical mortar is one sack cement, one sack of hydrated lime and six cubic feet of clean sand.

The hydrated lime makes the mortar almost impermeable to water.

Davis of New Paris, enlisted in the service from Pittsburgh. Mr. Kimmell son of Mr. and Mrs. John O. Kimmell of near New Paris after entering the service was sent to Texas where he joined an aviation corps.

A parade was formed at the post-office headed by the New Paris band and marched to the Reformed church which was soon filled to overflowing. The following program was carried out successfully:

Song by pupils of the public schools; Prayer by the Rev. G. Metzger of the Reformed church; Music by band; Introductory address by the Rev. Metzger; Talk by Sergeant Adams; Music by band; Talks by Messrs Davis and Kimmell and E. V. Wright, Esq., a veteran of the civil war; Music by band; The talks made by the soldier boys were very interesting, describing their experiences while in the service. Sergeant Adams on arriving "over sea" joined the 301st Heavy Battalion American Tank Corps. Mr. Davis was a "Runner" or "Messenger Boy" during the battle of Chateau Thierry, while Mr. Kimmell was not called to go "over sea" to participate in the battles in the air, he was qualified to take part in the same mounting, in practice to a height of 10,000 feet.

Some Hints On Gardening

At this time of the year most of the people who possess back gardens come to the conclusion that they are so named because they give one a backache.

The better the day the better the dig.

The easiest thing to raise in any garden is a thirst.

A garden is a small piece of land completely surrounded by pests.

The best vegetables in the world are to be found on the plates of the seed merchants catalogues.

There is no real rest for the amateur gardener, although he goes from bed to bed.

The sort of weather that is best for gardens is the sort they never get.

The real idea of sowing seeds in a garden is to give the birds something to eat.

The easiest way to produce a squash is with the aid of a more successful neighbor's garden.

When your seeds completely fail to come up, it is probably because you have put them in upside down.

Burnt out electric light bulbs may be planted at any time of the year but preferably in the garden next door.

To water a garden is a sure sign of rain.

WOULD TAX FARM BONDS

Representative McFadden, Republican, of Pennsylvania, a member of the House Banking and Currency Committee, is out with a proposal to tax the Federal Land Bank bonds and the joint stock land bank bonds, now exempted. As one editorial writer puts it, "this somewhat distinguished Republican Congressman proposes to take this slap at the farmers under the pretext of hitting the wealthy bond owners; just as though the farmers had not already been slapped enough, or it was a crime for a man to be rich enough to be an investor in farm loan bonds." Taxation of such bonds will simply mean a higher rate of interest for the farmers, and they will therefore pay the tax.

Earthquakes in Italy.

Statistics gathered in Italy throw some light on the question of the relative frequency of earthquakes by day and by night. It has been alleged that the supposed greater frequency of nocturnal quakes is only apparent, being due to the fact that quiet conditions at night make the shocks more readily perceptible. It appears, however, that considering only those shocks which were so intense that they could not have escaped notice at any hour, 865 occurred during the 12 night hours.

Signers of the Declaration.

The American Declaration of Independence was signed by every member of the continental congress that made it. There were three signers from New Hampshire, five from Massachusetts, two from Rhode Island, four from Connecticut, four from New York, five from New Jersey, three from Delaware, nine from Pennsylvania, four from Maryland, seven from Virginia, three from North Carolina, four from South Carolina and three from Georgia.

First Electric Lighted City.

Aurora, Ill., was the first city in the world to have its streets lighted by electricity, that method of illumination having been installed there in 1881.

What Makes The Difference In Time

The man with the mail order watch dashes madly down the street, coat tails flying, perspiration pouring and his entire system "het" up with the excitement within over the danger of missing his train with an important engagement awaiting him. He arrives at the station long before his train is due and in comparing his mail order watch with the perfect timekeeper of the station master finds that the station man's home purchased watch is of finer workmanship and better quality and was purchased for less money.

The next victim of the mail order jeweler suffers to the contrary by arriving a half hour late while the station man, also a patron of the home jeweler is ever happy with correct time, perfectly adjusted watch and a faithful guardian in the jeweler from whom he made the purchase.

Eskimo Kayak.
One of the oddest crafts ever seen near Provincetown, Mass., was the Eskimo kayak, in which Explorer Donald B. MacMillan paddled about. The kayak is a man's canoe and is built on a frame on which is stretched skin, water tight. It is handled with a double paddle, is decked over, and, with an expert in it, is one of the safest small craft known.

No southeastern state and no western state is represented on the Republican "steering committee" of the next House of Representatives, says Congress Longworth by way of criticism. Doesn't he know that the "best interests" of the Republican party are in Pennsylvania where Penrose dominates for the interests of the big corporations?

Napoleon's famous "Old Guard" said of itself that it died, but never surrendered. The Republican party's "Old Guard" may at times surrender, but the roster of the next Congress shows that it does not die.

The autobiography of John Hay, President McKinley's great Secretary of State is interesting reading, and some of the things he wrote years ago are just as true now. For instance, on April 24, 1900, he wrote to Richard Watson Gilder: "The fact that a treaty gives to the country a great lasting advantage seems to weigh nothing whatever in the minds of about half the Senators. Personal interests, personal spite and a contingent chance of a petty political advantage are the only motives that cut any ice at present."

A little later when considering his retirement because of Senate action he wrote: "I shall be sorry to part with the President (Mr. McKinley) who has stood nobly by me in everything, but there will always be 34 per cent of the Senate on the black-guard side of every question that comes before them."

Mr. Hay humorously summed up his opinion of the Senate as a treaty making power thus: "A treaty entering the Senate is like a bull going into the arena—no one can say just how or when the final blow will fall—but one thing is certain—it will never leave the arena alive."

Ex-President Taft holds the same opinion and the people are holding it too.

For $1—This Week Only To Women Who Failed to Get It

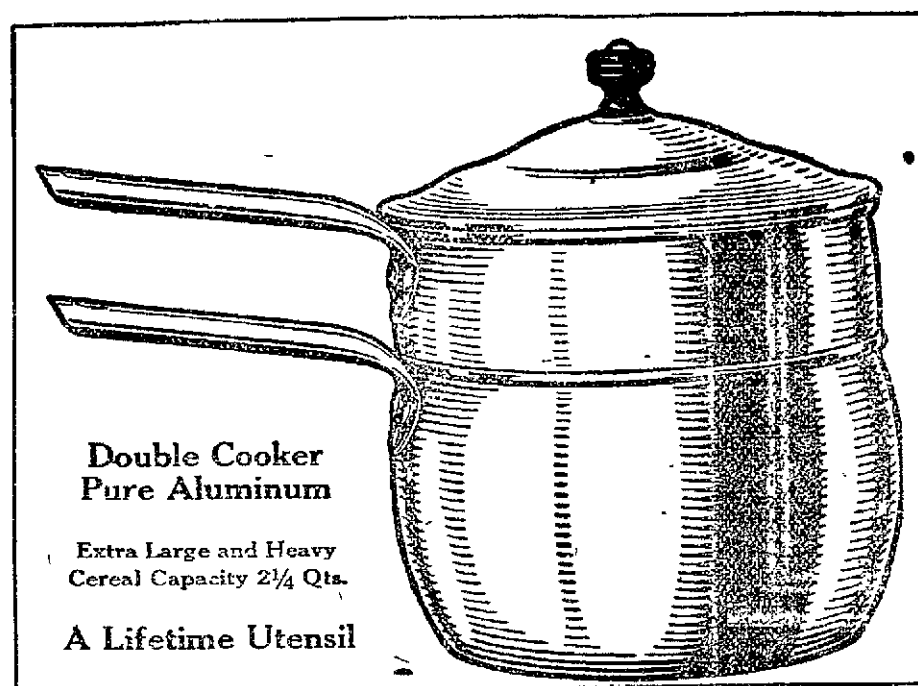

We have supplied our famous Cookers to more than a million homes. But we want every home using Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats to have one. So we repeat for one week only this attractive Dollar Offer.

Now a Very Costly Offer

This to us, at present aluminum prices, is a very costly offer. Yet we have those Cookers made to our order in enormous lots.

Such an Aluminum Cooker, extra large and heavy, would probably cost at retail more than you care to pay. But you need it to cook cereals rightly. So we want you to have it—for your sake and our sake—if you are cooking our cereals without it.

If you have this Cooker, our offer is not open. We cannot supply more than one to a family. But, if you failed to get one, get it now. This offer is made for one week only. It cannot be repeated unless Aluminum comes down.

Keep the Rich Flavor Intact

Quaker Oats and Mother's Oats are made from queen grains only—just the rich, plump, flavory oats. We get but ten pounds from a bushel.

This is done to secure a superlative flavor. Little grains, puny and insipid, lessen oat-food delights.

Now we ask you to cook these luscious oat flakes so that flavor keeps intact. Cook them so they easily digest. This Cooker will help you to do that, as it does a million others.

It is yours for $1 if you send this week. And if you send the sales slip asked for, to show that you are using this delicious grade of oats. You will save enough to buy a great deal of cereal by accepting this dollar offer.

Your Last Chance to Get It

Buy from your grocer five packages of either Quaker Oats or Mother's Oats. Or buy four packages of the oats, and one of either Quaker Best Corn Meal or Quaker Hominy. Send us the grocer's sales slip with $1 and we will mail the Aluminum Cooker by parcel post. Sales slips must be mailed within one week.

Yes, Guest

When a young husband sits him down in his easy chair, and his child-wife slips quietly along, sits down in his lap and relates with tears trickling down her voice that she hasn't had a new hat in three months—guess, gentle reader—which is the easier (or the easier), the chair or the hat.

Alaskan Coast Forests.

The forest forests of southern and southeastern Alaska are included in the national forests of Tongass and Chugach, which comprise over 66,000,000 acres, a large proportion of which is covered with trees. Of these Sitka spruce averages about 20 per cent and western hemlock about 75 per cent.

Lone Village Lonesome.

Skiddaw is the not inappropriate name of a village in England that has only a single inhabitant. The lone villager of Skiddaw complains because he cannot vote—there being no overseer to prepare the voters' list and no church or public building on which to "publish" one, as the law requires.

Therefore, Be Cheerful!

Depression, gloom, dark "brooding" these are the worn stones in the descent to the inferno of incompetence, helplessness, delayed victory, or even ultimate defeat. This, we know, is true evermore in our individual life struggles. It is just as true of nations.—William Allen Knight.

A national system of interstate highways and the creation of a Federal Highway Commission are the two objects of the Federal Highway Council which was organized in Chicago April 8.

This movement was first launched at the Highway Congress held in the same city in December, under the auspices of the American Association of State Highway Officials and the Highway Industries Association. Since then this Federal plan has received the endorsement of 425 Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade throughout the country. It has also received the endorsement of 350 other organizations such as Rotary and Kiwanis Clubs, Traveling Men's Associations, and all of the national and state good roads organizations.

This nationwide demand for a Federal Highway Commission and a national system of highways, as recognized in the recommendations of the Chicago Highway Congress and later covered by the Townsend Bill introduced in the last session of Congress, would assure the country of a definite national highway policy and plan.

State highway officials, representing forty states have gone on record strongly in favor of a Federal Highway Commission and a national system of highways. One prominent official representing the Highway Department of one of the largest states writes: "One important thing is to see that a Federal Highway Commission is placed in charge of a national system of highways and that they be given as free a hand as possible. I trust that they will avoid placing the construction of any national system on a cooperative basis. In my opinion, it would be a great mistake if a national Commission has to seek the cooperation of the various states. Our own experience here makes it clear that such an arrangement would be most unsatisfactory and embarrassing to the commission.

Where cooperation is necessary, any state can hamper and obstruct construction, until the demands of that particular state, or perhaps a small coterie of men within the state, are satisfied." Another prominent state highway official writes: "No state has been able to develop a system of state highways on a purely cooperative basis between the state and its subdivisions. When local cooperation is required the needs of local traffic will always be given preference as against the needs of through traffic in locating roads to be improved. This same objection to the development of a national system obtains in cooperative work between the states and the Federal Government. The highways of most importance to one state do not meet those of prime importance in the next state at the state lines, and through traffic, in consequence, will be forced to make considerable detours and not travel the most direct routes."

Regarding a Federal Highway Commission as provided in the Townsend Bill, a prominent state highway engineer wrote: "My reasons for believing that a commission should be created to handle this work are based on personal experience, as well as on observation. I have enjoyed the privilege of being a single commissioner for five years and of being the executive officer under a commission of three men for a period of six years. Under the latter arrangement in the executive officer does not have to deal with questions of policy and his time is devoted entirely to the business affairs in connection with the work. The commission brings to the work the viewpoints of different interests of different parts of the state and are far better able to pass judgment upon matters affecting the entire state than is any one man. Upon any matter that is under controversy the judgment of three or five men will always be received with far better grace than will the judgment of one man. On this account the public will have greater confidence in the work of a commission than in the work of any one man. With a problem as diversified as in the construction and maintenance of highways throughout the United States I believe we should have the benefit of the experience and judgment of men representing different interests and parts of the country. For these reasons I believe the establishment of a commission to have charge of this great work."

Speakers at the Chicago meeting strongly emphasized the necessity of building national highways to meet the requirements of the heavy volume of interstate travel and pointed to the fact that the highways, notwithstanding their unimproved state, are carrying more traffic, both freight and passenger, than is being carried on and over all of the railroads of the United States. Mr. S. Marshall Williams, formerly of Everett, chairman of the Federal Highway Council, said:

"The time is here when we should not only consider the cost of highway development, but along with the cost we should consider and determine the value in dollars and cents of the highway to the community it serves or to the country at large, if national highways. If we do that, the cost of any highway properly designed and constructed to carry the traffic upon it, with a safe margin for increased traffic, will fall into significance. Unfortunately we have not, as a country, awakened to the fact that our highways have an earning capacity which can only be increased with the improvement of the highways." Every mile of highway properly improved is one step more toward a lower cost of farm and manufactured products, for the increased comfort and pleasure of every man, woman and child, for greater earning possibilities of our agricultural districts, and a better country by welding together in closer association its different sections."

OLD AGE STARTS WITH YOUR KIDNEYS

Science says that old age begins with weakened kidneys and digestive organs. This being true, it is easy to believe that by keeping the kidneys and digestive organs cleansed and in proper working order old age can be deferred and life prolonged far beyond that enjoyed by the average person.

For over 300 years GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil has been relieving the weaknesses and disability due to advancing years. It is a standard old-time home remedy and needs no introduction. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil is increased in odorless, tasteless capsules containing about 5 drops each. Take them as you would a pill, with a small swallow of water. The oil stimulates the kidney action and enables the organs to throw off the poisons which cause premature old age. New life and strength increase as you continue the treatment. When completely restored continue taking a capsule or two each day. GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules will keep you in health and vigor and prevent a return of the disease. Do not wait until old age or disease have settled down for good. Go to your druggist and get a box of GOLD MEDAL Haarlem Oil Capsules. Money refunded if they do not help you. Heat ALL Your House THROUGH ONE REGISTER

Yes, it's just as possible in your home as it has been in fifty thousand others. You, too, may have every room comfortable with balmy healthful heat, reaching every corner by Nature's method of circulation—and all through only one register! It isn't necessary to clutter up your house with pipes, overheat your cellar and incur big bills—not when you can get the

The Original Patented Pipeless Furnace

It can be set up in a day, without inconvenience to you, and will make your home so comfortable in the severest winter weather you will be well repaid.

Your house will be uniformly warm; your cellar will be just right for the storage of fruits and vegetables. Your fuel bill will be less than with stoves that heat only a part of your house.

HERE ARE THE REASONS

The Caloric is the Original Patented Pipeless Furnace—the result of the study of competent engineers to solve the heating problem in the most satisfactory way. That they have succeeded is proved by the fact that the number of Calorics sold on an absolute guarantee of satisfaction is three times greater than any other pipeless furnace.

The cause of this satisfaction lies in the patented and exclusive principles that distinguish the Caloric from all others. It is not a pipe furnace provided with an extra casing, but a complete revolution in furnace building designed exclusively for pipeless heating.

Come In And See Us

We will show you what these principles are, and you will then see what Caloric quality means, why it always succeeds and why imitations cannot accomplish the same results. Then you will be in no danger of buying an inferior article, with all its disappointment in later months. Get a copy of the book "Progress," which tells the fact about pipeless heating. If you can't come in, write for it.

What Doctor Pierce Has Done For Humanity!

BY DOCTOR CRIPPS.

It has always seemed to me that Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., should be placed near the top when a list of America's great benefactors is written. He studied and conquered human diseases to a degree that few realize. Whenever he found a remedy that overcame disease, he at once announced it in the newspapers and told where it could be bought at a small price. He did not follow the usual custom of keeping the ingredients secret, so that the rich only could afford to buy the medicine, but openly printed the name of each root and herb he used. And so to-day the names of Dr. Pierce and his medicines are widely known, and they stand for better health and better citizenship.

One of this great physician's most successful remedies is known as Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. These are little, sugar-coated pills, composed of Mayapple, leaves of aloe, root of jalap—things that Nature grows in the ground. These Pellets are safe because they move the bowels gently, leaving no bad after-effects, as so many pills do. Very often they make a person who takes them feel like a new man or woman, for they cleanse the intestines of hard, decayed and poisonous matter that accumulates when one is constipated. If you are constipated, by all means go to your druggist and get some of Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets. They may prove to be the very thing your system requires to make you well and happy.

Nurnberg Birthplace of Thimble.

As far as we can be certain of anything, the thimble is to be traced to the inventive and ingenious artisans of Nurnberg, who were the acknowledged manufacturers of it in the fourteenth century. It was not, however, until 1534, that the thimblemakers became what is called a corporate body, although for a whole century previously the Nurnberg merchants had carried thimbles with them for sale on their yearly expeditions to the great fairs of Leipsic, Hamburg and Lubbeck.

A Paradox.

"Strange as it may seem," launched out the man of observations, "when the young lady of the house declares that a certain young man is after her own heart, and father says he is after his, too, there is no chance whatever for an argument."

Each property is allowed a 3-4 inch water pipe and can use all the water that is necessary for all purposes excepting in dry seasons. This makes the town a healthy one, and the moral side is provided by a supply of churches—Methodist Episcopal, Lutheran, and Reformed. The town has a fine Odd Fellows building in which at one time a school was conducted and called the Allegheny Male and Female Seminary. The change is not very great around Rainsburg.
